Ecological sanitary pads

Ecological sanitary pads are soft, breathable, leak-proof hygiene liners that provide discreet protection for women in various situations such as postpartum, menstruation, or in the case of droplet or stress urinary incontinence.

Visually, they look like regular sanitary pads, but they have much higher absorbency and a safe waterproof layer. Importantly, they do not contain any artificial fragrances or chemical moisture absorbers, making them gentle and skin-friendly for women's intimate health and comfort.

Reusable nursing pads

The nursing pads are indispensable for nursing women. They are contoured to fit better in your nursing bra. The comfortable protection against unwanted leaks is provided by the absorbent inner layer of the insert and by the outer PUL later. The skin comes in contact with natural organic cotton or Coolmax material.

Before lactation normalizes, many women experience uncontrollable milk leakage. Unsightly milk stains on lingerie and clothing can appear at the most unexpected moments. Reusable nursing pads effectively solve this problem. They are highly absorbent and breathable, ensuring a constant flow of fresh air to the skin.

Reusable nursing pads are sewn from delicate, carefully selected materials, so they do not irritate sensitive nipples.

The advantage of reusable nursing pads is that they can be washed, dried, and worn again. This makes them environmentally friendly and economical!
